

Why Should I Belong to the FRSA?

Assistance from qualified, well-trained staff members ready to serve you.

Business contacts are expanded through interactions with other members.

Convention - Our Annual Convention and Trade Show attracts 3,500 roofing professionals under one roof and is the 2nd largest show of its kind in the U.S.

Discounts on publications, exhibit booth space, convention registration and educational seminar fees.

Educational seminars offered at convenient locations around the State for both business owners and their employees on roof system performance, roof design, safety issues, roof tile installation, asbestos certification and other industry topics provide the mandatory continuing education credits for state licensing requirements, as well as satisfy OSHA requirements.

Florida Forum Magazine - FRSA's monthly publication. FLORIDA FORUM Magazine provides up-to-date information on issues effecting both commercial and residential roofing including roof systems, application techniques, regulations/ legislation, safety, business management and industry events.

Governmental Relations through our lobbyist, Anna Cam Fentriss, in Tallahassee, keeping you informed and well-represented on key issues affecting your livelihood. Special Member Alerts are faxed to FRSA members on a regular basis, and provide immediate information on what is happening in our State's Capitol.

Hotlines for all your legal and human resource questions.

Insurance coverage that is designed especially for the roofing risk. The Self Insurers Fund provides important loss control assistance and has averaged a 20% return of premium to its members.

Joining an Association which encourages a high standard of business ethics among its members and informs the public of the importance of doing business with competent and ethical firms. FRSA encourages quality through education and recognition of competence through such programs as the CPRC (Certified Professional Roofing Contractor) designation.

Knowledge - FRSA member mailings and special reports keep you informed about the latest developments in legislative and regulatory areas.

Leadership. FRSA has enjoyed the support of its members for 86 years now. The dedication of its committee members, directors, and affiliates will ensure that FRSA will continue to serve the industry for another 86 years.

Membership Directory listings of members in the roofing industry. Your company needs to be listed in this key directory which is a resource for members and a referral listing for others in the industry.

Networking opportunities allow contractor, manufacturer and supplier members to meet with their peers and expand their circle of valuable business contacts.

OVER PLEASE

Opportunity to join with over 800 colleagues in speaking out on behalf of the roofing industry in Florida. By joining together, FRSA members are the voice of roofing professionals throughout the State, influencing policy and bringing about significant changes.

Professional recognition through the Consumer Awareness Program. FRSA can provide you with handsomely designed seals that can be proudly displayed on all of your proposals and invoices. These seals give you a marketing advantage with consumers who can call a toll free number to verify that you conform to state licensing regulations, have current workers' compensation and liability coverage, and subscribe to the FRSA Code of Ethics.

Quality educational programs taught by specialists in their fields.

Roof Tile Installation Manual - The FRSA/TRI Concrete and Clay Roof Tile Installation Manual, a consensus document that has sought to unify roof tile installation by providing generic roof tile installation recommendations, has been extremely well received by contractors, manufacturers, design professionals and building officials.

Strength in numbers. Your membership helps unify the roofing profession. With every new member and continuing member, FRSA becomes a stronger, more effective advocate for you. In addition, we can join with other construction trade associations for even greater influence.

Technical information. Members can receive technical information 24 hours a day through FRSA's website – www.floridarroof.com and a special "members only" section. Finally, our FRSA members are a network of experts who are available to answer questions on a timely basis.

Union - Credit Union, that is - is open to all member companies and their employees. Low cost loans, payroll deduction, debit cards, CD and savings plans are some of the offerings.

Volunteering to work on one of FRSA's 11 committees will benefit you both personally and professionally. You can become involved in planning the annual Convention, suggest topics for future educational seminars, or provide input on building codes at the state, regional, and national level.

Web site - www.floridarroof.com - FRSA's website provides a complete list of FRSA members to consumers who are looking for quality roofing professionals.

Xtra benefits include new and continuing friendships, fun sporting events, receptions and parties. Special spouse and children's programs are also offered.

You are heard - FRSA is your organization. Your ideas are represented on both a state and a national level. We have members presently working with the Florida Building Code Commission and the International Code Council, as well as the Construction Industry Licensing Board.

Zero - You have nothing to lose and everything to gain as a member of FRSA!
